100 ENTREPRENEURSHIP, CELEBRITY, TALENT & INFLUENCE PARTNER TARGETS

Entrepreneurship Programs • Accelerators • Chambers • Talent Agencies • Athletes • Speakers • Creators • Foundations

Purpose: Give Student Fellows a prospecting map for organizations that can provide something beyond traditional sponsorship: mentors, judges, speakers, entrepreneur introductions, celebrity/athlete experiences, congratulatory video messages, award presenters, social awareness, finalist experiences and cash support.

Critical outreach rule: Fellows should never imply that a celebrity, athlete, entrepreneur or agency has endorsed the Student Impact Challenge unless a formal commitment exists. Do not contact a celebrity's private information or attempt to bypass representatives. Use official agency, foundation, management, business or public-facing channels.

How Fellows Should Approach Entrepreneurship Organizations

Lead with the mission: students are interviewing businesses, identifying real community problems and proposing solutions. Ask entrepreneurship organizations to contribute people and access — mentors, judges, speakers, workshops, business-owner introductions and innovation experiences. Financial sponsorship can be discussed where appropriate, but it should not be the only ask.

How Fellows Should Approach Talent & Celebrity Representatives

Do not send a vague request asking an agency to “get us a celebrity.” Present a specific, low-friction opportunity their client can consider: meet the winners, record a short congratulatory video, speak to finalists, present an award, participate in a mentor session, or help create awareness through an approved social post. Clearly state the expected time commitment, audience, location/date if known, nonprofit operator and whether the request is unpaid, sponsored or still exploratory.

Escalation Rule

Any discussion involving appearance fees, travel expenses, exclusivity, image/likeness rights, social-post requirements, recording rights, press commitments, sponsorship benefits or contracts must be escalated to program leadership before anything is agreed. Fellows may open the conversation and identify the correct representative; they may not negotiate celebrity contracts.
