OUTREACH MESSAGING PLAYBOOK

Email • Phone • LinkedIn • Contact Forms • Follow-Up

PURPOSE

Give the Student Fellow approved language and a repeatable communication process for turning researched prospects into conversations with community, corporate, media, scholarship, prize and experience partners.

Core Message the Fellow Must Understand

The Student Impact Challenge — “Leave It Better Than You Found It” — is a statewide youth initiative presented and operated by TrendCatch Gives Back Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. Young people ages 10–20 are challenged to engage with local businesses and communities, identify real problems, and propose solutions. More than $100,000 in scholarships, cash and prizes are available across the initiative for students, schools and educators. Registration is open at FrantzCoutard.com. Entrepreneur and Shark Tank investor Daymond John has agreed to meet the winners.

The fellow should communicate these facts accurately, but should not overload every first message with every program detail.

1. First Email — Community Partner

Suggested subject: Community Partnership Opportunity — New York Statewide Student Impact Challenge

Hello [Name],

My name is [Fellow Name], and I am reaching out on behalf of the Student Impact Challenge — “Leave It Better Than You Found It,” a statewide youth initiative presented and operated by TrendCatch Gives Back Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization.

The challenge gives young people ages 10–20 an opportunity to engage with local businesses, identify real community problems and develop solutions. More than $100,000 in scholarships, cash and prizes are available across the initiative.

I came across [Organization]’s work involving [specific initiative/program], and I believe there may be strong alignment with our mission.

We would love to explore having [Organization] become a Community Partner and help make students and families in your network aware of the opportunity. There is no financial commitment required for a Community Partnership.

Would you be the appropriate person to speak with, or could you direct me to the person who handles community partnerships?

Thank you,

[Fellow Name]

4. Phone Call Script — Finding the Right Person

Hello, my name is [Name]. I'm calling on behalf of the Student Impact Challenge, a statewide New York youth initiative. I'm trying to reach the person who handles community partnerships, community impact or sponsorship requests for your organization. Could you tell me who the appropriate person would be and the best professional way to contact them?

If asked what the program is:

It's a statewide challenge for young people ages 10–20 that encourages them to engage with businesses, identify real community problems and propose solutions. More than $100,000 in scholarships, cash and prizes are available, and we're building community and corporate partnerships to expand awareness and opportunities for the students.

5. LinkedIn Connection / Message

Hello [Name] — I'm reaching out on behalf of the Student Impact Challenge, a statewide New York youth initiative for ages 10–20. I recently emailed regarding a potential partnership because of [Organization]'s work in [area]. I thought there could be strong alignment with your community-impact work and wanted to connect here as well.

6. First Follow-Up — 3–5 Business Days

Hello [Name],

I wanted to follow up on my note regarding the Student Impact Challenge and a potential [community/corporate/media] partnership with [Organization]. We believe there is meaningful alignment because of your work in [specific area].

If you are not the appropriate contact, I would greatly appreciate being directed to the person who handles community impact, partnerships or sponsorships.

Thank you for your time.

7. Second / Final Follow-Up

Hello [Name],

I wanted to make one final follow-up regarding the Student Impact Challenge. Registration is currently open for young people ages 10–20 across New York State, and we are continuing to build our network of partners helping students and families discover the opportunity.

If this is something [Organization] may be interested in exploring, I would be happy to connect you with our program leadership. If another person handles these requests, a referral would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you,
[Fellow Name]

8. How to Personalize Without Rewriting Everything

Every first message should contain at least one specific sentence showing that the fellow researched the organization. Examples: “I saw your recent youth financial-literacy initiative...”; “Your foundation’s focus on education strongly aligns...”; “Your community-relations team has a history of supporting New York youth...” The fellow should never invent a program or partnership.

9. Language by Partnership Type

Partner Type	Recommended Language / Ask
Community	Help make students and families in your network aware of the challenge.
Media	Help amplify registration and share stories of young people improving their communities.
Scholarship	Explore supporting educational opportunity and recognition for student problem-solvers.
Corporate	Explore a meaningful community-impact partnership aligned with the company's existing priorities.
Prize / Experience	Help recognize participating students, educators or winners through an approved product or experience.
Business Access	Help connect students with local businesses willing to participate in interviews.

10. Communication Rules

- Personalize every first outreach.
- Keep the first email concise and focused on one ask.
- Never claim a prospect is already a partner.
- Never promise sponsorship benefits, logo placement, exclusivity or media coverage.
- Never negotiate money or formal terms without program leadership.
- Never use pressure, repeated daily messages or personal/private contact information.
- Use professional spelling, grammar and tone.
- Record every message and follow-up in the outreach tracker.
- Stop routine outreach and escalate when the prospect expresses meaningful interest.
