AI-POWERED SPONSOR OUTREACH EMAIL TRAINING GUIDE

How Student Fellows Use AI to Research, Personalize, Draft, Verify & Improve Partner Outreach

THE STANDARD

AI is a writing assistant — not the researcher, decision-maker, or source of truth. Every email must be based on verified facts, tailored to the prospect, and reviewed by a human before it is sent.

1. The 8-Step AI Outreach Workflow

1 — RESEARCH

Use the organization's official website, recent news, LinkedIn and approved research sources. Find one real community program, mission priority or recent initiative.

2 — QUALIFY

Decide why this prospect belongs in the pipeline. Is the strongest opportunity CASH, IN-KIND, AWARENESS, MENTORSHIP, EXPERIENCE or another approved category?

3 — IDENTIFY THE PERSON

Find the best current role: Community Impact, Foundation, Corporate Responsibility, Partnerships, Community Affairs, Marketing, local owner/operator, etc.

4 — CHOOSE ONE ASK

Do not ask for five things at once. Select the strongest first conversation.

5 — GIVE AI VERIFIED FACTS

Provide AI only the facts you have confirmed. Tell it explicitly not to invent anything.

6 — GENERATE

Ask AI for a concise, professional email that explains alignment and opens a conversation.

7 — VERIFY & HUMANIZE

Check every factual claim, remove generic AI language, and make sure the email sounds like a real person wrote it.

8 — RECORD & SEND

Save the final message and outreach date in the tracker. Follow the approved follow-up schedule.

2. Facts AI May Use About the Challenge

Use only approved current program facts. The working facts for this guide are: the Student Impact Challenge — “Leave It Better Than You Found It” — is a statewide New York youth initiative for ages 10–20; it is presented and operated by TrendCatch Gives Back Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization; young people engage with businesses/communities, identify real problems and propose solutions; more than $100,000 in scholarships, cash and prizes are available across the initiative for students, schools and educators; registration is open at FrantzCoutard.com; and Daymond John has agreed to meet the winners. If any program fact changes, use the newest approved information instead of copying this guide.

3. MASTER AI PROMPT — Copy, Fill In, Then Generate

You are helping me draft a professional partnership outreach email for the Student Impact Challenge. PROSPECT: Organization: [NAME] Category: [BANK / LAW FIRM / UTILITY / MEDIA / SPORTS / ETC.] Contact name/title: [VERIFIED NAME/TITLE OR ROLE] Verified community initiative or mission point: [FACT + SOURCE/NOTES] Why it aligns: [1–2 SENTENCES] Primary partnership type: [CASH / IN-KIND / AWARENESS / MENTORSHIP / EXPERIENCE] Specific first ask: [ONE ASK] APPROVED PROGRAM FACTS: - New York statewide Student Impact Challenge for ages 10–20. - Young people engage with businesses and communities, identify real problems, and propose solutions. - Presented and operated by TrendCatch Gives Back Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. - More than $100,000 in scholarships, cash and prizes are available across the initiative for students, schools and educators. - Registration is open at FrantzCoutard.com. - Daymond John has agreed to meet the winners. INSTRUCTIONS: Write a concise, warm, credible professional email. Personalize the opening using ONLY the verified information above. Explain the alignment naturally. Focus on ONE partnership conversation. Do not invent statistics, programs, contact information, grants, partnerships, sponsorship benefits, commitments, deadlines or facts. Do not say the organization is already a partner. Do not negotiate money or promise logo placement, exclusivity, naming rights or media exposure. End with a simple request for a short conversation or referral to the correct person. Keep the body approximately 180-250 words. Give me 3 subject-line options first.

4. BAD PROMPT vs. STRONG PROMPT

| BAD                                               | STRONG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|---------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| "Write Chase an email asking them to sponsor us." | "Draft an email to Chase's community-impact team. We verified [specific program]. Our strongest alignment is financial education and youth entrepreneurship. Open a conversation about scholarship/community-impact support. Do not invent facts or quote a dollar amount." |
| "Ask Nike for money and sneakers."                | "Draft a first outreach to Nike's social/community-impact team. Lead with youth opportunity. Our first ask is a conversation about an in-kind student/winner experience; do not ask for cash and products in the same first email."                                         |
| "Write Con Edison a powerful sponsorship pitch."  | "Draft a concise outreach to Con Edison based on this verified community/STEM initiative: [fact]. Position a Sustainable Communities partnership around student problem-solving. Ask only for an introductory conversation."                                                |

6. AI Prompt Add-Ons for Different Goals

| Goal            | Add This Instruction to the Master Prompt                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-----------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CASH            | "The prospect is a potential financial sponsor. Do not state a dollar amount. Open a conversation about supporting scholarships/community impact and ask whether they would be open to reviewing partnership information." |
| IN-KIND         | "Do not ask for money. Ask about a specific in-kind contribution: [tickets/products/meals/space/travel/devices/etc.]. Make the student benefit clear."                                                                     |
| AWARENESS       | "Do not ask for funding. Ask whether the organization can help share registration through appropriate community channels. Do not promise or request guaranteed editorial coverage."                                        |
| MENTORSHIP      | "Ask about professionals participating as mentors, workshop speakers, judges or career-exposure partners, subject to program approval."                                                                                    |
| LOCAL FRANCHISE | "Write to a local owner/operator, not corporate headquarters. Emphasize the local neighborhoods served and keep the request practical and community-based."                                                                |

7. Make AI Critique Its Own Draft

After AI drafts the email, paste this instruction: "Now audit the email before I use it. Create a short checklist showing: 1) every factual claim about the prospect; 2) whether each claim came from information I provided; 3) any sentence that sounds generic or overly promotional; 4) whether the email has more than one ask; 5) whether it accidentally promises sponsorship benefits, tax treatment, media coverage or partnership status; 6) what sentence should be made more human and specific. Then provide a corrected final version."

8. Human Review — The 10-Point Send Test

|                                                                         |                                                                             |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ■ Is the organization name spelled correctly?                           | ■ Is the contact name/title verified?                                       |
| ■ Is the personalization fact real and current?                         | ■ Can I identify the source of every prospect-specific claim?               |
| ■ Is there ONE clear first ask?                                         | ■ Does the email explain why this organization specifically?                |
| ■ Did AI avoid inventing grants, statistics, programs or relationships? | ■ Did we avoid promising benefits, exclusivity, logo use or tax treatment?  |
| ■ Does the email sound natural rather than robotic or exaggerated?      | ■ Is the final email recorded in the outreach tracker before/after sending? |

9. AI Red Flags — STOP and Fix Before Sending

Stop if AI writes statements such as: "We admire your longstanding partnership with us"; "Your company has committed millions to this exact issue"; "As an official partner"; "Your grant program is currently accepting applications" without verification; "Your donation is fully tax-deductible"; "We guarantee national media exposure"; or any invented executive/contact email. AI can make plausible-sounding statements that are false. Plausible is not verified.

10. Training Exercise for the Fellow

Select five prospects from five different categories. For each prospect: research one verified alignment fact; identify the correct department; choose CASH/IN-KIND/AWARENESS/MENTORSHIP/EXPERIENCE; run the master prompt; run the AI audit prompt; manually edit the draft; and submit the final email plus the source used for personalization to program leadership for review. Do not send the first training set until approved.
